Hyaluronic acid! This substance that makes you dream, but which can also kill!
CREDIT PHOTO:I STOCK

A flagship product for several years, it's a dream!

Its virtues:

- ✓ Moisturizing,
- ✓ Firming,
- ✓ Rejuvenating

Appeal to all audiences.
And yet its misuse in injectable form can lead to irremediable disasters: allergies, local infections, necrosis, unsightly results, etc.
In France, hyaluronic acid in injectable form has been subject to medical prescription since June 29, 2024.
Decree No. 2024-490 of May 29, 2024 relates to the sale of devices containing hyaluronic acid in injectable form.

Who is affected by this decree?

Pharmacists, doctors, dentists, patients, industrialists.

What is he planning?

The decree provides that the supply of medical devices and products based on injectable hyaluronic acid, given the serious risks they present for human health, is subject to medical prescription.

New article of the public health code

«Art. R. 5211-72. - May only be made available free of charge or for a fee to doctors for their professional use and, upon their prescription, to their patients:

«1° Injectable medical devices, whatever the method of introduction, including intradermal, containing hyaluronic acid;

«2° Injectable products, whatever the method of introduction, including intradermal, not having a medical purpose, mentioned in 3 of Annex XVI to Regulation (EU) 2017/745 of the European Parliament and of the Council of April 5, 2017 relating to medical devices containing hyaluronic acid.

«Art. R. 5211-73. - The devices mentioned in 1° of article R. 5211-72 can also be made available, under the same conditions, to dental surgeons and their patients. ».

New provisions, which, we hope, will help avoid irremediable disasters.

MIGRATION CRISIS IN EUROPE AND AMERICA: RESULTING FROM THE FAILURE OF THE DECOLONIZATION OF CERTAIN COUNTRIES 60 YEARS LATER?

«We cannot accommodate all the misery in the world »; proclaimed French President Emmanuel Macron loud and clear on September 24, 2023 during his interview in the television news of France 2 and TF1.
He thus repeated the words of Michel Rocard: in a speech delivered on June 6, 1989 to the National Assembly (page 1797 of the document): «There are, in fact, in the world too many tragedies, poverty, famine so that Europe and France can welcome all those whom poverty pushes towards them»[1]
The attempts at discourse or the supposed coercive measures do not resonate with this part of the population in third world countries, among others.
This part of the population which imagines itself realizing its European or American dream.

Sometimes; immigrants return as heroes to their country:

MAMOUDOU GASSAMA, the young Malian migrant who saved a child by climbing the facade of a Parisian building at the end of May 2018. Featured in his native country after his naturalization in France and a "small" recognition in the United States.
FRANCIS NGANNOU; former MMA champion (in English mixed martial arts, in French Mixed Martial Arts); acclaimed on his return to Cameroon.

Sometimes, it's disenchantment:

ARMAND: who raises the alarm on a social network: There are cop checks everywhere! Guys, don't go illegally to Germany again!
It's hot; the cops came and I hid - ASTRIDE says to her mother on the phone as she tries to survive without a residence permit in Belgium.
MARIE ANGE: I had to have sexual relations with several French people - who promised to marry me in order to get me regularized.
And yet; I am still in an irregular situation!

Yet; they insist:

SOLANGE (Hairdresser): I will go to Belgium, I will ask for asylum, even if I have to become Tchelé* (homosexual in slang).
AYILA: (who appeals for help to her community via social networks). I arrived a year ago by boat thanks to the network of a sailor friend. However, I still have nothing, no job; the Italians refused my request for asylum. I'm going to die soon.
These dramatic situations clearly reflect a failure of decolonization in many countries!
Why this escape to the outside? Why are the state authorities in power unable to put in place systems that create decent jobs for their populations?

Return to the Opinion for a binding prison regulation mechanism (A- 2024- 4)

The national assembly, in its Plenary Assembly of May 23, 2024 (unanimous adoption), adopted the opinion (A - 2024 - 4) for a binding prison regulation mechanism.
What solutions does the CNCDH (National Consultative Commission on Human Rights) propose?

- A regulatory mechanism based on already existing systems, to be expanded if necessary.
- The CNCDH therefore recommends that a mechanism be put in place which, from the triggering of an alert threshold (66) meaning that the occupancy rate of the establishment will be exceeded, compels judicial and penitentiary actors to use existing mechanisms, and to extend, if necessary, the possibilities of using them, in a combined or alternative manner.

Pragmatically, on the one hand, it involves adding, within the code of criminal procedure, a provision requiring the use of all available levers in the face of imminent violations of fundamental rights generated by overpopulation. The novelty would lie in the prescription of an obligation of result, that of limiting prison density to a certain threshold (67). And on the other hand, it is a question of extending the field of application of existing systems.

While it is important to put in place tools for monitoring and evaluating the systems, the current lack of encrypted data cannot and must not, in view of the unanimously shared sense of urgency, be an obstacle to the implementation in place of a binding prison regulation mechanism. This mechanism, necessarily based on consultation between stakeholders, can nevertheless be refined over time.
*First, the CNCDH recalls that three devices used to relieve overcrowding in penitentiary establishments have recently disappeared. Collective pardons, which exempted convicted persons from serving the remainder of their sentence, were abolished by the constitutional reform of 2008. While it remains possible, amnesty, which legislatively erases the conviction without necessarily act on the part of the sentence already served, has not been used since 2002. Finally, the sentence reduction credits, the restoration of which is called for by many actors, were abolished by the law of December 22 2021 for confidence in the judicial institution.
*Then, sentence conversion allows the sentence enforcement judge, when this “seems likely to ensure the reintegration of the convicted person and prevent their recidivism”, to replace a six-month prison sentence maximum - pronounced without a committal warrant - by another sentence: home detention under electronic surveillance (DDSE), community service (TIG), day fine or reinforced probationary suspension (68). Extended by the 2019 justice planning law, this system can now be used during the execution of the sentence. Conversion concerns the remainder of the prison sentence, in the same way as a sentence adjustment. During the health crisis, the order adapting the rules of criminal procedure to deal with the covid-19 epidemic (69) had provided that the conversion of sentence would be applicable in a much broader manner to convicted persons whose remainder sentence was less than or equal to six months.

*Thirdly, there is significant room for maneuver in terms of pronouncing end-of-sentence adjustments, it being noted that only one in four detainees leaves detention within the framework of such a system, even though it is supposed to be the norm. The Marseille experiment mentioned above established the possibility, when a certain occupation threshold is reached, of granting sentence adjustments "without adversarial hearing, on relaxed criteria and with a sympathetic view". (…).

Recommendations

Recommendation No. 1: The CNCDH recommends including in law a binding prison regulation mechanism, which would be based on existing legal mechanisms, if necessary, by broadening their scope of application.

Recommendation No. 2: The CNCDH recommends including in law the ban on exceeding an occupancy rate of 100% in any prison area.

DOUBLE EMPLOYMENT FOR PUBLIC OFFICIALS AT THE PARIS 2024 OLYMPIC GAMES DESPITE 5,124,300 JOB SEEKERS IN FRANCE!
IS THIS A SCANDAL?

5,124,300 job seekers registered with France Travail in the 1st quarter of 2024 in France.
Among them, 2,819,800 people are unemployed (category A) and 2,304,400 are in reduced activity (categories B, C)[2].
And yet the French State authorizes public officials to carry out gainful paid activity during the games.

- Altruism of the French STATE?
- Admission of the poor conditions of public agents authorized to carry out a lucrative salaried activity as a private security agent on an ancillary basis?
- Are these « assisted » job seekers really abandoned?

In recent years, the list of ancillary activities that public officials and state workers can combine with their public employment has continued to grow: self-employed, private security agents, etc.
If it is true that the financial question (increase in income for a moment) can leave one dreaming, the frightening reality cannot however be hidden: The precarious conditions of these public agents are the first reason which pushes them to want to complete their public employment.

Decree No. 2024-483 of May 28, 2024 allows public officials to carry out, on an ancillary basis, a lucrative salaried activity as a private security agent within the framework of the 2024 Olympic and Paralympic Games.
The decree opens the possibility for public agents and state workers to combine public employment with the lucrative secondary paid activity of private security agent.

Who is concerned?

Public employers, public agents from the three sides of the public service and state workers.

What is the period concerned?

The period from July 15, 2024 to September 15, 2024.

 The decree opens the possibility for public officials and state workers, on the occasion of the organization of the 2024 Olympic and Paralympic games, to combine their public employment with the lucrative accessory activity of employee of a company of private security agents, in particular when they hold the professional surveillance card in the context of sporting, recreational, cultural or economic events bringing together more than 300 people provided for by Decree No. 2022-592 of April 20, 2022 This option will require prior and individual authorization from the public employer to which the agents concerned belong. This is a system put in place from July 15, 2024 to September 15, 2024. The decree constitutes a complementary system to decree no. 2020-69 of

[2] -Statistiques trimestrielles France Travail (pole-emploi.org)

January 30, 2020 relating to ethical controls in the public service, which it does not modify.

- Why are the Job Seekers registered with France Travail not these people only mobilized to supplement the workforce in these Olympic and Paralympic Games?(Around 8,000 job seekers out of 5 million have followed training as private security agents!!!!!)
- Why not do everything possible so that job seekers can work during these games? With good housing conditions, salary among other things?
- Why authorize multiple employment for public officials during this period when unemployed people can be trained?
- Are the salary and working conditions of public officials degraded to the point where the French state pushes them to greed which leads them to take the work of other people?

Direction
Yaoundé -
Cameroon:
sweet Okok accompanied by cassava sticks

The cassava sticks

Ingredients: Cassava, cassava couscous, well-washed cassava stick leaves.

Preparation time: 3 days

Select the cassava carefully before starting the operation.

Avoid acidic cassava.

Peel the cassava, and boil water

In a utensil that will be tightly closed for 3 days, soak the cassava in hot water, sprinkling with cassava couscous.

After 3 days, rinse the cassava, press the cassava, remove as much fiber as possible, crush and ideally attach it to the leaves provided for this purpose.

Cooking time: 45 minutes

Cook in boiling water for approximately 45 minutes.

Sweet okok

Ingredients: OKOK leaves, roasted peanuts, palm nuts, sugar or bananas, crayfish, salt.

Preparation time: 2 hours

*Palm nuts and OKOK

Cook the palm nuts. While the palm nuts are cooking, add the cut okok leaves (well wrapped) to soften them.

Then, pound the palm nuts, extract the juice.

*Roasted peanuts

Roast the peanuts over medium heat until cooked through. (When the seeds are crunchy).

Remove the skins by rubbing with your hands. The skin of the peanuts should be slightly removed.

Crush the peanuts.

Cooking time: 45 Minutes

Heat the palm nut juice; mixed with okok for 10 minutes;

When everything is homogeneous, add the crushed peanut.

Stir regularly. Add salt (moderately).

When the mixture is homogeneous, add crayfish or any other cooked meat or fish.

Put either: A few pieces of sugar (ideally brown); or ripe banana previously crushed.

GOOD TASTING!!!
